

Mike McCallum and Lynn Bell, winners of a fishing trip in the San Juans, donated by PSA for the CCA Northsound annual banquet, came out to fish with Jim Lawson and myself last weekend. These guys were a blast and we got on Pinks too many to count and landed a nice King. Jim put us on the fish with some amazing new 3-D electronics in his loaded 28 Grady. Look for Labor Day weekend to be good in the 'Juans. Between the huge biomass of pinks, and the commercials hot on their tails, the fishing for other species has been somewhat spotty. Once they move out and more Chinook and Coho move in, it'll be time to whack a big one. I heard of a 40lb. King landed on Friday somewhere out here.....and remember the 61 lb. slab caught out on the Westside of San Juan in 2009.

Picture: L-R: Lynn Bell, Mike McCallum, and Jim Lawson hunted down and tagged this rare non-pink on a beautiful sunny day in the San Juan Islands.
